

Tech Coords Email Distribution List Charter

This list is intended to be both a quick-turnaround troubleshooting aid and a long-term information exchange forum for those who administer and manage computer resources in Ohio's schools. Its primary purpose is to provide the technology coordinator with a community experience where assistance, collaboration and evaluation activities can take place in a time-critical manner.

The List / Community Rules

Thank you for subscribing to the TECHCOORDS list and for participating in matters of common concern to technical leaders and staff in Ohio's schools. In spite of some inherent risks that an open environment represents, it also fosters better dialogue and the exchange of information. In this spirit, the TECHCOORDS list is not moderated, but it is monitored. Because this list is an exchange of advice, ideas and opinion without moderation, each poster must comply with the following rules.

- TECHCOORDS list members agree to maintain a civil tone in their postings, treating all other members with respect.
- In cases where a member or group of members has a specific complaint about list use, that complaint must be sent directly to the list monitor for action.
- List members are expected to prevent any automatic replies such as out-of-office messages and read receipts from being sent to the list. Not doing so will result in the suspension of posting permissions.
- Commercial or vendor promotional postings are prohibited and will result in the poster being removed from the list.

These rules are subject to review and revision. Please let us know what you think about them. Their purpose is to enhance your professional lives, not to complicate them. Thanks for your commitment to Ohio's students and for being part of the TECHCOORDS community.
