

TOPIC: TECHNICAL SOLUTIONS TO INCREASE EFFICIENCY

QUESTION: Does district size, location, or computer platform affect this technology?

“In a bigger district, the remote access tools make even more sense, because if you’ve got a... a small technology staff, the more that they can manage from a central location, the easier their job is. I mean, when you look at pushing out the Windows updates, if those are all managed from the district office and you have three and four hundred computers in your district, you don’t have to go to all those computers and do things. You can install software by remote. There’s ways to have the software install itself. It saves you a lot of traveling computer to computer to do the same things.”
